Famous Sleuth Nabbed Just as He Was Leaving Indianapolis Hotel, Where He Had Been in Hiding--Later Released on Bond of $10,000--Will Remain in Indiana City.

WOMEN PLAN DEFENSE FUND

Put Up Hard Fight to Secure Return to Indiana of J. J. McNamara on Ground That Extradition to California Was Illegal—Get Opinion From Clarence Darrow—Much Depends on Woman's Identification of Dynamite Suspect.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 26.—William J. Burns, head of the Burns National Detective Agency, was arrested on a kidnaping charge just after he had left the Claypool hotel, where he had been in hiding all day from constables. Constable Wilson made the arrest after following Burns from the hotel. Burns said he was on his way to give himself up, but was known of the warrant. Burns was released under $10,000 bond. He will remain in the city for two or three days in completing his evidence against McNamara.

Three of Burns' agency detectives were also arrested and released on bond, making a total of seven arrests on charges of kidnaping. Backed by the influence of union men as represented in this city by the international officers of six organizations, a movement has been started to force the return here of J. J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the iron workers, on the ground that he was taken unlawfully from the state. As outlined by one of the national officers, the arrests of Walter Ford of New York, W. J. Ford of Los Angeles and Frank Fox, driver of the automobile in which McNamara was taken from the city, were made for kidnapping with a view to bringing to the fact that McNamara was not permitted to employ a lawyer or to make any defense before the court to which he was taken for identification. They have been advised that, as the case with which he is charged was committed in this state, he was legally taken from it by the detective and there will be an effort to return him.

Union Leaders Meet.
A meeting of the principal officers of most of the unions which have international headquarters in Indianapolis, held at the building of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, the structural iron workers were assured of support of the other unions. It is stated that the purpose was to set on foot a capitalistic effort against union labor. It is said that no more were taken to start a campaign against all the international organizations looking toward the raising of a defense fund for McNamara, but several times during the meeting it was no doubt the allied unions would join together and help finance a fight to the last ditch. Presumably the leadership of the legal fight that will be waged by the leaders on behalf of J. J. McNamara and other union men who have been arrested on charges of dynamite. Clarence S. Darrow is here to begin an investigation of the kidnapping cases.

Darrow denied that he had been employed in the case. He came here particularly to see McNamara was extradited from Indiana. He was positive from the extradition had made of the law that it had been accomplished in an illegal manner. The expectation Darrow to duplicate that by which he wrested Moyer and Haywood of the West.

WOMAN HOLDS KEY

McNamara's Fate Depends on Her Ability to Identify Him.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 26.—No attempt will be made by the state in the McNamara and McManigal trials to implicate union labor as a party to the Los Angeles Times dynamiting according to District Attorney Fredericks.

"I believe the arrested men are guilty," said Fredericks, "and I shall make every effort to convict them. But, personally, I don't believe it possible for the union, as a union, to have committed the crime charged. As individuals these men are responsible and as individuals we will attempt to punish them."

Excitement here is growing more intense as the time of the arrival of the prisoners draws near. Union labor leaders are bitter in their denunciation of the methods employed. The building trades are prepared to strike May 1 and there is a growing feeling among the workers that the proposed general strike of all union men should not longer be delayed. Many believe the unions should voice their protests against the arrests by quitting work as soon as it is announced.

HINES TO FORE AGAIN

Millionaire's Objections to Hopkins Related to Probers.

Springfield, Ill., April 26.—That Edward Hines of Chicago, millionaire lumberman, told Governor Deneen of Illinois over the telephone that Albert J. Hopkins must, under no conditions, be re-elected United States senator from Illinois because President Taft and Senator Aldrich did not want him, was the allegation of W. H. Cook of Duluth, Minn., before the Illinois senate's Lorimer bribery investigation committee.

that the McNamaras and McManigal are confined here.

Mrs. H. D. Ingersoll, the San Francisco woman who is said to have given Detective William J. Burns his first clue to the identity of the man who passed as "J. B. Bryson" or "Bryson" when 500 pounds of dynamite were purchased at Giant City last September has arrived here. A few minutes after she had registered in a hotel she was taken away in an automobile and is now in hiding to protect her from interviewers.

On Mrs. Ingersoll's verdict, when she faces James W. McNamara depends his fate so far as the Times dynamiting is concerned. She is expected to identify him as "Bryson" or "Bryson," the man who was a lodger in a house she had in San Francisco for several weeks. She will face McNamara within a few minutes after he arrives in Los Angeles.

Final preparations were made to send the prisoners when they arrived to keep them safely in the county jail. Four deputies are to guard the men constantly and a signal system has been installed that is expected to give the alarm the instant escape or rescue is attempted. McManigal is to be kept in a cell by himself and the McNamaras in the emergency tank. Guards will be posted outside the jail and deputies will remain near the prisoners constantly.

Fear Habeas Corpus Writs.

Denver, Colo., April 26.—Fleeing from possible legal intervention in the shape of habeas corpus writs, the 11 detectives guarding John J. McNamara, his brother, James W., and Orville E. McManigal are speeding toward Los Angeles on Santa Fe train No. 3. They should reach Los Angeles tomorrow.

Objects to Item of $8,000 to Defray Expense of Attorney General's Department in Prosecuting Newark Rioters--Arouses Wrath of Wets and Protest Is Ignored—Senate Votes $30,000 For Survey of Old Canals by Chief Engineer.

Columbus, O., April 26.—After lengthy debate the house passed the general appropriation bill, which carries appropriations of approximately $6,000,000, an increase of over $300,000 over the 1910 appropriation bill. The bill as it now stands, it is claimed, will decrease the treasury balance.

Items to the amount of $20,550 were attacked, but every effort made to strike them out was out-voted. The majority of house members accepted the statement of Chairman Goodbread of the finance committee that the committee had cut down the original budget over $3,000,000 and that any further cuts would be harmful.

The appropriation of $8,000 for the attorney general's department for investigation and prosecution in the Newark riot cases brought on a brisk fight. Representative Fulton of Licking county attacked the amount on the grounds that it was paying attorneys fat fees for prosecuting the rioters while, he said, Licking county was fully able to do its own prosecuting and pay for it. The item apparently aroused the opposition of the wets. The house, however, voted down Fulton's amendment to cut it out.

Mayor Baehr also announced that the 15 patrolmen had been suspended indefinitely, six of them, it is said, for having taken part in the raid and the others on the charge of breaking the police department rule which prohibits members of the force from joining a police organization in which they have to pay dues without permission of the chief.

Minority Leader Mann Pokes Fun at Several Items

KENTUCKIANS COME RIGHT BACK

Relative Merits of Blue Grass Bourbon Stock and Peoria Distillation Figure in House Debate—Sausage and Dogs Also Get Mixed Up in Controversy—Chairman Underwood Declares Measure Not Intended as Consolation Prize to Agriculturists.

Washington, April 26.—For the next week or 10 days the farmers' free list bill will hold the center of the stage in the house of representatives. Many members on both sides of the chamber have demanded time in which to discuss the measure, and there is no disposition on the Democratic side to cut short the debate.

Majority Leader Underwood, Minority Leader Mann, Representative Gardner of Massachusetts and several other "spellbinders" turned loose a flood of oratory. Mr. Underwood had a good audience, but Mr. Mann received flattering attention, and is admitted on both sides of the chamber to have made a good speech for the opposition. To the delight of his colleagues, it was anything but profound in spots.

Discussing the iniquities of the Democrats, Mr. Mann called special attention to the fact "that their bill puts sausage on the free list but leaves a tax on dogs—the raw material."

Several Democrats solemnly arose and wanted to know if Mr. Mann had inside information on the composition of sausages. "No," replied Mr. Mann, with equal gravity. "I don't know what they do put in them. I've never been able to find out."

Then the minority leader turned to the Democratic side and made one of his very polite bows. "Pray," he said, "can anyone over there tell me what a prepared cereal food is?"

Scores the Democrats.

After waiting a moment for a reply that did not come, Representative Mann began to score the Democrats on the vagueness and indefiniteness of many of the items in the bill. He referred to the section putting all prepared cereal foods on the free list. Said he:

"We all know, or at least we believe, that many breakfast foods are 'prepared cereal foods.' But what about macaroni? Did the Democratic members of the ways and means committee consider that we got over a million dollars revenue from macaroni and vermicelli last year?"

Representative Gardner of Massachusetts interrupted: "I would like to have the gentleman's opinion as to whether or not distilled rye or corn are prepared cereal foods."

Before Mr. Mann could answer Representative James, the Kentucky giant, jumped out of his chair. The house was enjoying itself hugely. "Anybody who has ever drunk good Kentucky whisky," he rumbled, "knows that it is not a food."

"Ah ha!" cried Mr. Mann, "and yet I have known Kentuckians who regarded it as both food and drink."

There was more laughter and applause, and Representative Stanley of Kentucky, defender of mellowed goods at the time the pure food law was under consideration by the house, jumped to his feet. "The people who drink whisky made in Peoria, Ill.," he declared, with an expression of disgust on his face, "seldom know anything at all afterwards."

But aside from this outburst of foolishness, Mr. Mann's speech was a careful analysis of what he termed "the absurdities" of the free list bill. He declared the measure to be ex-

SETTLING OF VALUES ON REAL ESTATE OF CITY MEANS BUSINESS ACTIVITY

Action of State Tax Commission in Approving Local Appraisal Means That All Uncertainty as to Property Valuations is Ended and Business Will Boom. Outside Investors Praise City Property as Revenue Producer.

It is very gratifying to the citizens of Washington C. H. to know that the State Tax Commission has passed upon the appraisements of the local board and decided not to make any increase in the same.

Although an increase has been made on the land appraisements in all the townships of the county and in the appraisal of realty in all the other municipalities of this county, the Washington C. H. appraisal will stand.

In Cincinnati property owners are "up in the air" over the announcement that there is to be an increase in the appraisal, and men interested in realty matters say that it will unsettle affairs for the next two months.

The fact that the Washington C. H. appraisal has been accepted by the State Board is regarded as being very fortunate, especially for those buying and selling property and those having property to rent.

A few days ago a gentleman from another town visited Washington C. H. and purchased two pieces of property for renting purposes. He already had three properties here, and in speaking of his impressions of investments in property in this city, said:

"I regard Washington C. H. as the best and safest place for investment in real estate of any place I know of. I have never had any trouble in renting my properties in this city at a price that gives me a splendid rate on my investment, and my properties have all increased in value since I purchased them. One I purchased last summer for $1800 could not be purchased from me now for $2500, and I have made no improvements in it."

"Washington C. H., in my opinion, is a more desirable and safer place for investment than Columbus or any of the other southern Ohio cities."

This certainly speaks good for our city.

DEATH OF MISS IDA DEAN.

A wide circle in this community will be touched by the word that Miss Ida E. Dean died Tuesday afternoon at the Columbus Hospital in Chicago.

The many friends here who were in close communication have realized for several weeks that Miss Dean's condition was hopeless and were expecting the word received last night.

The remains will arrive from Chicago Thursday morning on the 10:35 B. & O. train and will be taken at once to Grace church where the funeral services will be held at three o'clock in the afternoon.

It was Miss Dean's wish to be buried in the Washington cemetery.

Miss Dean taught in our Public schools. She was a most successful teacher, winning the love and respect of her pupils to an unusual degree, and it was with great regret that the school management realized that her health would no longer permit continuance in school work.

Miss Dean was deeply interested in the work of the Sabbath school of Grace church, and also took an active part in club work. Last Christmas the Browning club, of which she was a member, sent her beautiful flowers in token of their remembrance and appreciation.

A sister of the late Charles F. Dean, former superintendent of our city schools, upon her resignation, February 1910, Miss Dean went to Chicago to make her home with Mr. Dean's daughter and her niece, Mrs. Allen R. Titus. The last year of her life was brightened by the affection of this niece and the reminders from relatives and friends here.

C. H. & D. Depot Killed by Harmon

Considering the present agitation over the C. H. & D. depot, it may not be amiss at this time to state why this city did not secure a new depot over two years ago when plans, specifications, and everything was in readiness for the new depot.

At that time Gov. Harmon was receiver of the road. Plans and specifications were made and all was in readiness to commence work when the plans were approved. They were submitted and approved in turn by the Division Superintendent, Division Engineer, Chief Engineer, General Superintendent, General Freight Agent, the local agent and eventually went up to the Receiver, who turned down the proposition, and the city of Washington lost a new depot.

This information is reliable, and shows where at least a portion of the blame lies for the present deplorable situation in connection with the C. H. & D. railroad.

today heard arguments on the form of the decree of foreclosure asked by the New York Trust company against the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad.

The junior bond holders represented by the Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York, had been opposing the granting of a decree at this time, but have now united with counsel for the New York Trust Co. in submitting a decree from Judge Swan's consideration.

Counsel for the respective interests went over the tentative decree paragraph by paragraph with Judge Swan. The decree is to be reprinted according to conclusions and alterations made today and the court announced that it would be brought up for his signature a week from next Thursday.

B. & O. Spends Over $5000 On Old Depot

According to reliable information the present repairs at the so-called Union Station will cost just $3200. Last year the improvements reached above $2000 it is said, so that in two years' time the road has expended over $5000 on the old station and it is still inadequate to the demands.

If this money—between $5000 and $6000 had been expended for a new station, it would have gone a long way toward erecting a good one. The improvements have been expensive and worthless too.

THE PRICE BAND CONCERT LAST NIGHT PLEASED LARGE HOUSE

The Empire theater held a record-breaking house Tuesday night, taxed to its utmost capacity by a tremendous outpouring of Washington's lovers of music and minstrel comedy. Assuredly the Pythian Sisters scored a brilliant success in bringing Price's Premier Band and amazing minstrel troupe from Greenfield as their first attempt in the line of public entertainment.

"Price's Band" is always a magic combination of the assembling of vocal artists and minstrel novelties with the brasses for a minstrel concert, created added desire to attend the performance. Not only was every seat taken, but many stood in the rear and in the vestibule.

The performance justified anticipation.

It was a brilliant ensemble of minstrel songs and jokes, of tuneful and infectious music, original novelties and mechanical effects, a production that struck the popular chord and called forth strenuous applause.

The stage settings, especially designed and painted, were effective, with Southern terraces and palm decked loggias illumined with scarlet lights, forming the background for the minstrel stars, seated in semicircles, rising in three tries.

All the true minstrel paraphernalia was in evidence. The end pieces were scarlet ties and high hats and the decorations throughout were in the scarlet and white, with the interlocutor in the center, on a flag-draped throne.

Everything passed off with quite a professional smoothness, the superb orchestration alone sufficient to carry everything through.

Unquestionably the music was the heart of the show. It was beautiful and full of melody from the opening chorus, "Betsy Ross" to the closing song, "The Gwine Back to Dixie" and it was rendered with an artistic finish that gave to the performance an attraction rather unusual in a minstrel show.

If the minstrel comedy didn't come up to the musical standard it could hardly be called a disappointment, for the music was par excellence.

Mr. Miles Townsend's superb singing of "If I Had the World to Give" and Miss Lena Kern's "Just A Wearyin' For You," were the gems of the ballads, and Mr. Henry Price's own song, "I Can't Help It," was scored again and again. Mr. Newton Adams, a former Washington boy, sang "Keep a Corner in Your Heart for Mother," with good effect.

In the band were also three old Washington boys, the Edmundsons.

The four female minstrels was an innovation, but they did their part in the chorus singing.

There were seventy people in the cast, orchestra and band.

Mr. Don Caldwell entertained with an amusing monologue specialty act between parts first and second.

After all the diversified entertainment of the minstrels the band concert which composed part second, made the greatest appeal to the audience.

Price's Band is certainly an organization of which any city might justly be proud. In out-door concert it is hardly possible to appreciate the fine work of the band as it showed in the magnificent concert numbers, rendered in masterly fashion beneath the skillful direction of the inspiring conductor, Ralph W. Price. Seldom has anything more beautiful in the line of band music been heard than the selection from Gounod's opera "Faust."

The Pythian Sisters not only gave pleasure to the public in last night's Minstrel concert, but added a substantial sum to their treasury.

GREATEST PICTURE EVER PRODUCED

What the New York Telegraph has to say about the Fall of Troy to be shown at the Palace Theater Thursday:

Large stage productions have been made since the earliest days of the Grecian drama and the Roman theater, when great masses of soldiery arrayed themselves in the theater or arena for the edification of the excitable public. The motion picture camera has reproduced many big dramas and pictures of days that are past, and in recent seasons not a few such representations, truly colossal, have been made. But of all such productions none can be recalled which quite equals the reproduction of "The Fall of Troy" made by the Italia Company and released last Saturday. It is beautiful and so huge in scenic display and the number of actors and others involved as to stagger belief. The early scenes are worth remembering and reviewing again and again. Down to the minutest details of fountain, plant, walk, wall, live peacock, chariot, ancient covered wagons, dresses, jeweled ornaments, musical instruments—almost everything that the historian has recorded and the artist painted are herein reproduced with wonderful faithfulness. The battle scenes are wonderful. The repulse of the Grecians before the walls of Troy is the most remarkable exhibition of massed stage production ever witnessed by the writer and the height of the walls, the scaling ladder and tower, the hordes of armored soldiers and the manner of conducting and photographing the fight are deserving of praise of the most spontaneous sort. It is stage direction such as is seldom accomplished in the world of drama. The following scenes, showing the Trojans in their city, the withdrawal of the Greeks, their assemblage aboard their fleet, the moving of the giant horse into Troy after breaking down part of a gate, the exit from the interior of the horse of the Grecian soldiers and the firing and destruction of the city are all on a par with the other portions of the production. The picture should be seen far and wide and nowhere could it possibly fail of creating a sensational and a lasting impression. As an educational picture it is especially to be commended. It is on two reels.

INVESTIGATION BRINGS TO LIGHT MANY ATROCITIES

Boys of Nautical School Made to Suffer by Teachers.

LONDON.—(Sph).—A committee has just finished investigating charges of cruelty against the management of the Heswall Nautical School, an institution run by the Liverpool Juvenile Reformatory Association in the interests of making good boys out of bad boys.

The charges were preferred by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Adam, respectively deputy superintendent and mistress of the ship Akbar on which the boys got their nautical training.

The Adams quit their jobs because they were tired of seeing the boys abused.

The government was most unwilling to bother with them but Adam got some newspapers to make a fuss and Under Secretary of State Maclellan of the Home Department was finally coerced into appointing the committee to look into the complaints.

The committee's report exonerates the nautical school's management.

Let's see.

One charge was that the boys were "smuffed and gagged and then caved and birched by instruments that brought blood at every stroke."

The boys were not gagged, says the report. All that happened was that blankets were held over their heads that their screams might not distress people in the vicinity. Nor did blood flow at every stroke. The skin was merely cut, necessitating subsequent antiseptic dressing.

To satisfy itself beyond any shadow of doubt that the floggings were not cruel the committee went to the length of having doctors examine eighty-four of the victims. Only twenty-three of them were permanently scarred and in but four cases were the scars of "major degree."

Another charge was that to punish a few offenders against discipline whose identity it was impossible accurately to determine, the whole school—growing boys who needed rest—was kept awake and standing an entire night.

The truth is, according to the report that owing to the prevalence of smoking, absconding and other offenses "the whole school stood by their hammocks from 10 at night until 5 in the morning, alternately at ease and attention for fifteen minutes at a time. This, the committee holds, was not what was charged at all."

Again, it was charged that as a result of the ill-treatment a large percentage of the boys were covered with sores.

The committee reports that many of them did, indeed, suffer from boils and that chilblains were common.

But they were not due to ill-treatment. They were due to the bleakness of the situation, newness of the buildings and failure of heating apparatus.

The English, however, favor a certain amount of "roughing it" for the boys.

A man who will work a horse with a sore shoulder and make no attempt to cure it or change the collar ought to be compelled to wear ill-fitting shoes that would raise a new crop of blisters every week.

Most vicious habits of horses come from an incompetent trainer.

PREMATURE EXPRESSIONS.

Sensational and astounding as the news of the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times was, it did not exceed in that respect the news of the arrest of John J. McNamara and others charged with complicity in that horrible crime.

Labor leaders who rush into print with positive expressions of belief in the absolute innocence of the accused men and the assertion that the whole matter is a "frame up" by organized capital to crush out labor show poor judgment indeed.

The labor organizations of this country cannot be crushed out by the complete success of any such a conspiracy as that charged, indeed it would not result in the crushing of labor organizations if the individuals now charged with the crime were in the end proven to be guilty, beyond all cavil. The principles which underly organized labor are too fundamental, too much an essential to the uplift of humanity to be stamped out of existence by the criminal acts of any individuals who may belong to one of the hundreds of organizations builded on these principles and certainly they are too enduring to be brushed away by the petty whirl wind of corrupt conspiracy.

These labor leaders who rush hastily into print asserting boldly the innocence of the accused men and the existence of a conspiracy of capital, give much proof of just what has been contended for a long time—that many of the labor unions of the country are controlled by men of too small mental and moral caliber and to this fact is attributable much of the disturbances between capital and labor.

Men who will rush into the lime light with such assertions demonstrate conclusively that they are not nearly big enough to be trusted with the enormous power for good or for evil which organized labor wields.

Those statements will do much more to hurt organized labor in the estimation of the people than any criminal act of any member of any labor union and more than any conspiracy which may be even successfully executed by capital.

The Times explosion was an awful disaster and every civilized human being on the face of the earth ought to want the perpetrators of the outrage run to earth and punished in a manner fitting to the crime.

Fair minded, broad men will not be hasty in forming a final opinion of either the guilt or innocence of the accused men until all the evidence is in, and each side, accusers and accused, has presented the complete case.

It is this disposition on the part of labor leaders to jump at conclusions which retards more than any other one thing the growth of a movement founded on a sound theory. It is responsible for much blood shed, untold suffering and the loss of millions in property.

TALKS ON ADVERTISING.

No. 6. Selling Slow Sellers.

By Henry Herbert Huff.

COPYRIGHT BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

"Mr. Business Man, you were speaking of losing money on 'leftover' goods."

"Yes; I shall be glad to learn how I can avoid this loss."

"You cannot eliminate it entirely, but it can be very much reduced. I told you how to create a demand for new goods so they will move more freely, but the most experienced buyer will sometimes overstep or purchase the wrong kind of goods."

"The best way to avoid having many remainders is to buy right. Goods well bought are half sold. Study the wants of the people of the community. Buy what will sell, not what you like. Learn from experience the sizes and qualities that go best and stock up on these. Follow the trend of fashion. Study goods. Know all of their merits and defects. Learn all that is to be known about the lines you are handling. Buy in small quantities and often. Pay cash if you possibly can. The first cost may be less when you buy by the gross or ten gross; but, counting interest on money invested, deterioration in value, space occupied, the chance of going out of demand, etc., this difference is wiped out."

"The best of buyers will get 'stuck' occasionally. When it occurs make the best of it. Profit by the experience. You may stock up on something for which there is not the expected demand; you may buy heavily of an article that soon goes out of fashion; you may purchase more than regular selling will dispose of—whatever the cause or size, get rid of it!"

"But I hate to dispose of articles at cost or below."

"But you must! It is the most economical way out of it. You buy goods to sell—not to show. You can't afford to tie up capital in slow sellers, and then, too, the public gets a bad opinion of your store if you resurrect old goods each season or keep the same merchandise on your shelves year in and year out. Make things lively. Keep goods moving. Turn over stock frequently."

"If an article doesn't go at cost, mark it lower! If you can't sell it at any price, put something with it and sell them together."

"How about dull seasons?"

"There are no dull spells for the merchant who advertises. When trade begins to lag he increases his space and makes better offers. During the summer months he pushes seasonable goods by creating a demand for them and makes things lively with frequent bargain offers. Advertising creates an artificial demand. It will sell wool blankets in July, straw hats in November and fall suits in February. Likewise it will shift trade to the less busy days of the week. Monday is the big day in cities and Saturday in the smaller towns. By continued advertising of 'leaders' on Friday it has been changed from a dull day to one of the best."

"Good day!"

POETRY FOR TODAY

HIS CHOICE.

There's some as thinks a rose is fine,
 Some picks th' jaylock for th' best,
 Some picks th' laylock for th' best,
 An' some choose somepin' o' th' rest—

But as fer me, there ain't a thing
 As fine in looks or in perfume
 As when we know that it is spring
 An' see a apple tree in bloom.

Just like th' good book sez, you know,

Th' winter's over now, an' gone,
 It's time fer birds to sing, an' so Th' tree puts all its blossoms on An' shakes 'em out upon th' breeze
 So that th' news is passed around,
 An' sleepy-like, out come th' bees
 Glad of th' honey they hev found

A apple tree in bloom—all white
 An' pink—just like a little girl,
 You know, whose ma sez: "Be polite,
 An' keep that ribbon on your curl."

Just like a purty girl—an' clean
 An' dressed-up fer a holiday,
 But with th' good looks that is seen
 Th' best in a plain-folksey way.

A apple tree 's a friendly thing;
 No stuck-up style about it; still
 I think it's best there is of spring—
 I always did an' always will.
 Fer as fer me, there ain't a thing
 As fine in looks or in perfume
 As when we know that it is spring
 And see a apple tree in bloom.

Shanghai, China, April 26.—The most thrilling battle between Chinese pirates and Europeans in a decade was reported by the survivors of the wrecked Pacific Mail steamer Asia when they were landed here.

For hours the officers and crew of the Asia fought off the pirates, who swarmed up her side with the hope of looting her valuable cargo, with rifles, shotguns and revolvers, and finally with rude clubs and winches. The natives were badly beaten and a number killed, but they returned to the attack time and again, after being repulsed.

FARMERS'

Mr. Underwood in his speech said that while the purpose of the farmers' free list bill would be followed by a reduction of about $10,000,000 in the annual customs revenues, this he thought would be more than made up by economies in the administration of government affairs. The majority leader declared that the free list bill was not introduced as a "sop" to the farmer for the losses alleged to accrue to the agriculturists in the Canadian reciprocity bill. Mr. Underwood again eulogized that measure.

The third bottle put me on my feet and I resumed work as conductor on the Lexington, Ky., Street Railway. It will do all you claim in cases of rheumatism." Foley's Kidney Remedy allays rheumatism by eliminating the uric acid from the blood. Specially recommended for elderly people.

Inspector Viewing Local Conditions

Mrs. Augustus C. F. Miller, of Springfield, an inspector under the State Department of Inspection of Work Shops, Factories and Public Buildings, arrived in this city Tuesday to look after possible infractions of the laws regarding child labor and sanitary accommodations for women in factories and mercantile establishments. No complaint of any kind had been filed, the inspector's visit being merely in the line of duty.

Mrs. Miller visited a number of places today and as a result will probably make a few recommendations for improvement.

In the department service are 25 male and 8 female inspectors. It is the duty of the female inspectors to inspect only places where child labor and women are employed. The eight inspectors cover the entire state, giving each a large territory. Mrs. Miller visited Washington last fall and found a few matters that needed correction, all of which have been attended to and are now satisfactory. She also found a few cases wherein child labor was illegally employed.

Under the law no child under 14 years of age can be employed. Minors of 14 and under 16 cannot be employed unless a schooling certificate has been issued by the superintendent of the schools. Boys under 16 and girls under 18 must not be employed more than 8 hours in one day, nor more than 48 hours in one week, and must not go to work earlier than 7 a. m., nor work later than 6 p. m.

Mrs. Miller leaves here tomorrow for Chillicothe where she has a prosecution in progress.

Culberson's Inquiry.

Senator Charles A. Culberson of Dallas, Tex., was once making a political speech, and some of his auditors showed a disposition to "heckle" him, as they say in England. After a rhetorical pause according to the tale as it is told around the capitol a man in the audience asked:

"Do you drink?"

Without any hesitation the senator responded quickly:

"Is that an inquiry or an invitation?"

It was in Texas, and the audience roared.

They Lay In May

In most localities moths lay their eggs in May, and it is important that you use some sort of moth destroyer in your furs and woollens before that time. These articles should be dusted and sunned and then packed away with Moth Balls, Camphor Gum or something of the kind. The cost is so small that no one can afford to take the risk.

We have these Moth Destroyers and a variety of other insecticides.

Edwards Bill Killed by House

Special to Herald.

EX-KING MANUEL MAY BE FORCED TO QUIT ENGLAND

British Crown Does Not Like Attitude of Her Royal Guest.

LONDON, (Sp.)—Ex-King Manuel of Portugal is liable to leave England any day. Ostensibly he will leave for a little trip on the continent. But he will not come back.

Manuel has been plotting too much. Or perhaps it would be fairer to say that his friends have been plotting for him. Manuel himself is too young—and some people say he lacks brains—to be much of a success as a conspirator.

Certain of his supporters however who would like to see him back again on the throne at Lisbon, have been buzzing around him at Richmond for weeks and weeks and weeks. And that they have been plotting his restoration there is not a bit of doubt.

The English government can't stand this sort of thing. When England receives a fugitive monarch upon its shores it does so under the tacit understanding that he won't involve it in difficulties with the country from which he is a fugitive.

Manuel has not kept his part of the compact, or his friends have not kept it for him—from the English government's standpoint it doesn't particularly matter which.

If the government believed that Manuel really stood a fair chance of recovering his throne, it might wink at his friends' plotting. Manuel was always manageable enough by British interests when he was King.

King George likes him personally. And, as a monarchy itself, England considers the overturning of other monarchies a bad precedent.

But the government does not believe that there is a bit of hope for Manuel. So his friends' plotting is calculated to arouse Portugal's anger against England without doing the least good.

For this reason unless Manuel can keep his friends in order it is certain that he will soon receive a hint from Downing street that his presence in England is embarrassing the government and that the government wishes he would go somewhere else.

UNBOUNDED FAITH

"THIS here paper says as how they've just discovered the remains of a 35-foot saurian in Nevada."

"What in thunder's a saurian?"

"Blamed if I know. I s'pose mebbe it's something like a sardine."

"Huh! You ignorant chump, they ain't no 35-foot sardines."

"Well, there could be the remains of one, couldn't they?"

"Haw-haw! Who'd ever buy a box of them things?"

"Darn you, you're just like all the rest of these here smart guys that are upsettin' religion. I think they is remains of 35-foot sardines in Nevada."

I got faith to suppose that they is also remains of men big enough to buy em by the box an' eat 'em on crackers. You know what you are? You are one of these here atheists!"

Corset Hint

When your corset steel breaks make a slit near the bottom of the broken steel, on the inside, insert a steel taken from the side of an old corset. This strengthens the broken steel and does the same service as a new one.

Coffee Moss

Yolks of five eggs, one cupful sugar, one-half cupful strong boiling coffee, one pint whipped cream. Beat the eggs light, then add strained coffee and sugar, when perfectly cold add whipped cream. Mix well, pour in mold and pack on ice for four hours.

Delicious Pie Crust

A little salt, as much thick sweet cream as will be necessary as a mixing element to go with enough flour to make the quantity wished, are all the materials required. The method from a scientific standpoint is a success.

The vogue for bordered materials has brought out bordered voile in white. The designs are generally flowers.

TIMELY HINTS FOR FARMERS

Feeding the Lambs.

At eight to ten days of age lambs will begin to eat. At that time a creep should be built which will give them access to a feed box containing grain and a trough with hay. Box, trough and feed should be kept sweet and clean. A good grain ration for lambs is made as follows: Mix one-third part of oatmeal with one part each of bran, oats and fine cornmeal. Red alfalfa hay or the second cutting of alfalfa hay is the most desirable form of roughage. Of the two alfalfa is to be much preferred. It is a good idea to keep up the grain feed right along until the lambs are sent to market. By so doing the lambs are kept fat all the time and are ready to be turned into cash on short notice should the market take a sudden rise.

Amount of Grain For Cattle.

The amount of grain that should be given to cattle that are being finished on the grass should be gauged by the prospective time for selling and by the condition of the grass. When the animals are to be sold early, as in June or July, more grain or meal should be fed than if marketed later, as in August and September. When the grass is ready at its best, which usually is in the advanced weeks of June, grain will not add much to the gains, but it may and doubtless does lead to the consumption of less pasture.

Care of Weak Chicks.

If the young chicks seem weak and inactive and droop around in a listless manner, it may be from one or two causes, either they have lice or they need the right kind of food to assist them in the growth of bone and feathers. Mix with their morning feed a little crushed bone and oyster shells. This will assist them in manufacturing feathers, bone and muscle. For lice grease their heads and under the wings with lard and dust with Persian insect powder.

Charcoal For Poultry.

Crushed charcoal fed once or twice a week is invaluable in warding off indigestion. Hens that have access to the ash pile will pick out the small bits for themselves. Nature tells them that it is good for them. Those that have no ash piles to go to should be supplied with this necessary corrective. It is also healthful for young chicks.

Orchard Feed For Fowls.

Strips of clover, rape, cabbage, etc., may be sown in the orchard for the fowls to pick at, and later crimson clover and rye may be sown for a winter cover crop. This should be turned under in the following spring before they get too lush; thus the fowls can have ample green feed most of the year.

A Dead Game Snake.

An Ocean Grove man was walking beside Fletcher lake one day eating a sandwich. As the sandwich contained too much bread he flung the upper half into the water, and immediately a host of fish bubbled round it, and bit by bit it began to disappear.

The Ocean Grove man had no fishing tackle, but just then his eye alighted on a blacksnake in the brush, and remembering that his grandfather had often told him of the blacksnake's skill in angling, he grabbed the reptile by the tail, ran with it to the lake and held it over the struggling fish.

The snake, true to its reputation, showed itself a born angler, and the Ocean Grove man soon had forty fine fish. He declares that a couple days later, as he was passing the same spot, again something rubbed gently against his leg. He looked down and smiled. It was his old friend the blacksnake, eager for more sport.—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

"I don't believe either one of those men."

"Why not?"

THE HOUSE FLY

A CONTAMINATION AND

MENACE TO MANKIND

Breeds in Filth, Flourishes in Disease and Continually Seeks Human Society—State Health Board, Urging Use of Screens and Preventives, Calls Upon Public Sentiment for Enforcement of Laws.

The State Board of Health is just now opening up a determined campaign to lessen the danger from the house fly and to bring about its extermination, if possible.

Bulletins dealing with the subject have been printed for distribution, several copies of which have reached this city. The following valuable information therein contained should be read carefully by every citizen.

"For several years, a subject of increasing interest has been presented to the public. It is 'near and dear' to every man, woman and child in this great land of ours. It is 'near' to them because it comes in such close contact to each one. It eats at the same table; it crawls out of the same dish; it crawls on their faces.

It is 'dear' to them because it gives and yet does not enrich.

We speak of The Fly—the common house fly—which spreads filth and disease which causes sickness and misery; the great destroyer of peace, health and happiness.

This subject has been investigated by scientists, exploited by physicians, discussed by entomologists, acted upon by Boards of Health, considered by Business Men's Associations, Anti-Tuberculosis Societies, Pure Food Societies, etc.

If the eagle is the national bird, we certainly can claim the fly as the national insect. Indeed it has become of such national repute that every Board of Health has been compelled to take note of it.

There is no longer any doubt of the fact that the common house fly is responsible for much of our sickness. It has been proven time and again that the fly carries the bacilli of typhoid, tuberculosis, dysentery and intestinal diseases.

Aside from the fact of its germ carrying propensities, the fly is filthy and dirty. Its principal breeding place is in horse manure, in garbage pails and in filth of one kind and another. Flies are born in filth, they carry filth.

The fly is insidious. He lurks in every corner. He plants his disease germs on your bread. He burries them in your butter. He drowns them in your baby's milk bottle.
 There is no escape if he once enters your home. There is only one safe way to guard against the fly, and that is to keep him out of the house by screening your doors and windows. The fly does not convey the bacteria into the human system by biting, as the mosquito does, but carries the disease germs around with him in his body and clinging to the hairs of his feet.

Several states have ordinances requiring screen doors and window screens to be placed in all stores, restaurants, butcher shops, bakeries and other places where food stuffs and drinkables are sold or prepared.
 People themselves can do much toward enforcing this law to the fullest extent by refusing to buy from the butcher, grocer or baker who does not keep his place carefully screened. Neither should they eat at a restaurant or drink at a fountain where the proprietor does not use every effort to prevent the entrance of flies.

Rules for dealing with the fly unisance.

Keep the flies away from the sick, especially those ill with contagious diseases. Kill every fly that strays into the sick room. His body is covered with disease germs.

Do not allow decaying material of any sort to accumulate on or near your premises.

All refuse which tends in any way to fermentation, such as bedding, straw, paper, waste and vegetable matter, should be disposed of or covered with lime or kerosene oil.

Screen all food whether in the house or exposed for sale.

Keep all receptacles for garbage carefully covered and the cans cleaned or sprinkled with oil or lime.

Keep all stable manure in vault or pit, screened or sprinkled with lime, oil or other cheap preparations, such as are sold by a number of reliable manufacturers.

See that your sewerage system is in good order; that it does not leak and not exposed to flies.

Pour kerosene into the drains.
 Burn or bury all table refuse.

Screen all doors and windows, especially in the kitchen and dining room.

If you see flies, you may be sure that their breeding place is in nearby filth. If there is no dirt or filth there will be no flies. Remove the cause.

Nerves All Unstrung—Can't Sleep,
 Can't Work, Can't Rest—Can't Do Anything but Worry and Walk.

Morse's Glycerole is what you need. It doesn't matter a particle how many other things you have tried, put your faith in Morse's Gly-cerole today and start to get well before bedtime.

Mr. Hazen Morse is a chemist, one of the best in America. He has been making good medicines for our greatest physicians for years and years, and he knows how to combine the simplest drugs and make them perform wonders in restoring health.

Morse's Glycerole is Mr. Morse's crowning achievement; it is the most successful effort of his life. It has proven itself so wonderfully beneficial in nervous diseases that thousands of doctors have prescribed it and hundreds of hospitals use it daily.

If you know of anyone plagued with the misery that comes from any nervous condition, you will set the part of the good samaritan by telling him about Morse's Glycerole.

Weariness, weak, worn out, overworked people who find themselves unable to accept the responsibilities of life as they once so cheerfully did, should get a bottle of Morse's Glycerole at Blackmer & Tanquary's today.

Two sizes, 50 cents and one dollar and money back if it doesn't prove a blessing to you. Be your old energetic self again. Morse's Glycerole will put vigor, vim and vitality into you more quickly, than any other prescription.

HAREM SKIRT IS ## BEING RULED OUT

PARIS—(Spl.)—The harem skirt is falling into such disrepute in Paris that one of the Paris newspapers was today forced, under threat of a suit, to retract its statement that the harem skirt worn by a well known demimondaine at the Auteuil races recently, came from a certain dressmaking establishment.

Another Fearful Example.
 There was a young man in Timbutoo,
 Who said to the maid that he'd tuck to.

"I have loved you, sweet Ruth
 For a year; that's the truth!"
 "No," she said, "that's a lie well stuck to."

"I notice that you usually tell the truth."
 "Yes, I found that telling lies gets you into almost as much trouble."

There's a Reason.

"Here you are sporting around in an automobile and yet you cannot pay the little bill you owe me!"

"My dear friend, if you were supporting an automobile you would know why."—Houston Post.

"How did you enjoy your egg, dearie?"
 "Honestly, they weren't half bad."

"I'm so glad. I"—
 "You see, I had three and only one-third of them was bad."

"I feel," said Mr. Grabbing, "that I am advancing in wealth and influence."

"For what reason?"
 "People around me laugh heartily when I tell stories which formerly failed to get a ripple."

You can always rely upon a jealous woman finding something to work on.
